Gasohol emphasis by ADM

While experts argue over the wisdom of fueling America's cars with gasohol, free enterprise is charging ahead in producing the alternative fuel.

The Archer-Daniels-Midland milling firm, based in Decatur and with a grain processing plant in the local community, is producing nearly 150,000 gallons of alcohol per day at Decatur for the blended fuel. It plans to provide gasohol for two or three independent service station chains in this metropolitan area.

Gasohol is 90 percent unleaded gasoline and 10 percent ethyl alcohol or ethanol, according to Jim Ames, a farm energy conservation technician with the Illinois Department of Agriculture. That is enough alcohol to make 1.5 million gallons of gasohol, which he says increases fuel mileage and decreases automobile pollution.

Ames, speaking at a Southern Illinois University at Carbondale seminar last week, said other Illinois firms are importing alcohol from Wisconsin for gasohol distribution.

The alcohol is fermented from waste whey in the cheese industry.

All together, enough gasohol is being mixed in Illinois to supply nearly 100 service stations, he said. Many of the stations are in farming areas, and much of the alcohol is made from corn.

Ames said, for instance, that Archer-Daniels-Midland (ADM) produces its 150,000 gallons a day from central

Crash kills three

Three men were fatally injured in a car-truck accident on Route 3, four-tenths of a mile north of the Hartford Canal at 10:20 p.m. Sunday.

Dead are David Icke, 25, East Alton, Arley Potts, 61, of Rosewood Heights, and Mr. Potts' son, Alvin Potts, 33, also of Rosewood Heights. Both Arley and Alvin Potts are former Granite City residents.

Ted Williams, 30, Okay, Okla., driver of a truck which collided head-on with Mr. Icke's auto, was injured and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Alton.

Illinois State troopers said they were told Mr. Icke's auto was northbound on Route 3 when the southbound truck crossed into the northbound lane and collided head-on with the auto, fatally injuring all three men in the car.

Arley Potts resided at 8006 State st., until moving recently to Rosewood Heights. He resided most of his life in Granite City, relatives said.

He was employed at the ACF Industries American Car Works in St. Louis where he was a crane operator about four years. He was a member of Bethel Temple Church.

Surviving are two other sons, David Potts of Granite City and Dwayne Potts

Highway projects that would be completed in the next four years if Governor James R. Thompson's "move ahead" road program is approved include resurfacing of 3.41 miles of Illinois Route Three from south of Hartford to Interstate 270. Projected cost is $408,000. Also scheduled would be resurfacing of 1-270 from Route Three to Illinois Highway 111 at a cost of $2,600,000.

Four members of the Federal Communication Commission's special enforcement division visited the St. Louis metropolitan area last week, locating 40 fixed-base citizen band radios and ten mobile CB units using illegally high power. Fines are likely to range from $50 to $500 for creating

Crackdown on traffic

In an effort to further reduce the number of traffic accidents and fatalities in Illinois, the Illinois State Police will again utilize the Concentrated Traffic Enforcement Program. Locations will include Interstate 270.

CTEP was first initiated during the 1977-78 fiscal year.

Due to the previous success of the program, the State Police will use the program again during the months of May and June 1979.

CTEP is a federally-funded program utilizing off-duty troopers to patrol selected high-accident highways during those hours and days of high collision risk.

An analysis of Illinois traffic accidents has indicated that certain areas had a higher accident rate and that the leading causes of these accidents are driving under the influence of alcohol, speed, improper passing, following too closely and failure to yield the right-of-way.

The goal of this program is to reduce the number and severity of traffic accidents through enforcement action and high police visibility.

In District Eleven, Maryville, which encompasses a nine-county area, the CTEP locations are as follows:

Interstate 270 from Route 3 to Route 203.

Interstate 70 from Route 111 to Route 157.

Mayor Paul Schuler, his administrative assistant Arvil Taylor and City Attorney Lance Callis were to have flown to New York City today to complete the rating of the bonds, but cancelled the trip after the city's bonding advisers, Chapman and Cutler, notified Schuler of the pending law and its probable effects on the bonds.

Schuler said he was told that notice of the pending legislation which may cause the bonds to be taxed would have to be printed on the face of each bond, which would make them "nearly impossible to sell."

Callis said the bonds were to have been prepared for sale by May 11, and money to finance low-interest home

'State of mind' ruling may stand

By ROBERT ESTILL Press-Record

Washington Bureau

Reporters, editors and broadcasters disturbed by the Supreme Court's recent "state of mind" ruling should not expect Congress to ride to the rescue like the 7th Cavalry.

Congress is not likely to counter with legislation the high court's decision.

The ruling, in a libel case against the Columbia Broadcasting System, was that plaintiffs can inquire into the thinking and editorial processes that went into a story.

The forecast of non-response comes not from a media critic but from one of its champions, Rep. Tom Rainsback, R-Moline.

Rainsback has defended press freedoms as the second-ranking Republican on the Judiciary Committee and the ranking Republican on its subcommittee on courts and civil liberties.

He has backed "shield" legislation to protect the media against having to divulge its sources and is co-sponsor of a bill, now pending before his subcommittee, to deter surprise searches of newsrooms.

But in this case, the news media is divided on the ruling; and politicians, who might someday find themselves suing the press, would tend to support the decision, Rainsback noted.

He is on target with his observations about press "fragmentation" on the ruling.

There are those in the media who deplore the ruling as an intrusion on First Amendment guarantees of free press that could inhibit hard-hitting, investigative reporting.

William G. Mullen, formerly of Springfield and now executive vice-president of the National Newspaper Association, terms it "uncredible" that the court would sanction such mind probing.

"To me, such a probe intrudes upon a privileged area of journalistic privacy essential to the unhampered gathering of the news," Mullen said.

On the other hand, there are those who say such inquiries are fair if the plaintiff is to have any chance of winning a libel case under the Supreme Court's landmark 1964 decision in New York Times versus Sullivan.

In the Sullivan ruling, the court held it is not enough for a public figure to show that published or broadcast stories are untrue; a public figure also has to show malice, that the news media acted with "reckless disregard" for whether or not the story was false.

"When you have a guy as respected as Clayton Kirkpatrick of the Chicago Tribune saying we should over-react, that this is not the infringement or impingement some say it is, I think that means there will be some real fragmentation in the media," Rainsback said.

That same kind of division doomed prospects for meaningful, effective media "shield" legislation on protection of sources in the past, Rainsback said.

In the absence of any clear media consensus and concerted effort now, Congress is unlikely to overturn the "state of mind" ruling, he added.

"And there are many, many politicians who do not, particularly like the Sullivan rule in the first place," Rainsback said.

The idea of undoing the court's latest decision would be difficult to sell to legislators who, if subjected to untrue allegations, would have to prove malice under the Sullivan decision, Rainsback said.

That does not mean, in Rainsback's view, that Congress is unresponsive to protecting press freedoms.

He expects Congress will approve, at this session, legislation drafted by President Carter's administration to counter the court's ruling last year on newsroom searches.

In that case, the courts

Gasohol

Illinois corn. Since last May, the firm has bought nearly 46,000 tons of corn for the process.

Ethyl alcohol for the fuel can be made from any material with starch or sugar: wheat, sugar beets, potatoes, arrischoles or sugar cane, Ames pointed out.

"Every state in the union has some crop that can be used to make this fuel," he said. "It is renewable and it comes from America. We could reduce our dependence on foreign oil supplies and help boost farm income all at once."

Ames said four states now give tax incentives for the use of gasohol, but said Illinois has no long-range plans to support the fuel, even though the agriculture department has become an avid supporter.

He noted, however, that about 20 percent of the state government's automobile fleet is fueled with gasohol from six pumping stations around the state.

Illinois first became involved with gasohol when the Department of Administrative Services tested it in 1978 for 90 days in 15 vehicles this year. It noted a 4.48 percent mileage increase and projected lower maintenance costs because of the clean burning nature of the fuel.

Ames said Bell has announced its intention of fueling its cars with gasohol whenever it is available. Using gasohol does not require any modification of the vehicle's fuel system and it is easily mixed in bulk at the service station or by the distributor, Ames said.

Not everyone agrees with the agriculture department's or Illinois Bell's views.

Some experts say it takes more energy to make the alcohol in gasohol than can be gotten from it. And it costs more than gasoline; it runs the cost of a gallon of fuel up by five to seven cents.

Nevertheless, ADM says it can produce ethyl alcohol with a net energy gain by reducing the amount of distillation.

Figures for alcohol production, according to ADM, usually cite production of beverage-quality booze would be the equivalent of purging vodka in your gasoline tank.

But ADM says it has sliced nearly one-third of the process off. The alcohol still ranges from 193 to 200 proof, but it is not crystal clear and may smell. It burns equally well in a car as the "vodka," according to Ames.

And as for the higher price, Ames said the alcohol content of gasohol raises the self's octane rating and makes it the equivalent of a premium unleaded fuel. The price becomes competitive without special tax breaks when compared to a premium fuel, he said.

Delay home

mortgages then should have been available within a short period of time.

Several mortgage loan companies and two local banks had joined the program and planned to offer home loans at 8.25 to 8.5 percent interest for houses costing up to $80,000.

Families earning up to $40,000 a year could qualify for mortgage loans, under the proposed program.

Schuler said he has talked to U.S. Cong. Melvin Price about "rallying some opposition" to the bill and has talked to the mayor of Alton, who promised to contact his congressman, Paul Findley. Alton is in the process of increasing the amount of bonds for its mortgage program.

The bill to tax the mortgage revenue bonds, along with a moratorium prohibiting the sale of tax-free mortgage revenue bonds until May 14, was introduced by U.S. Rep. Al Ullmann of Oregon and would make all mortgage revenue bonds sold after April 25 subject to taxation.

Schuler said, "It seems like a real shame to me. It hurts the middle-income people, who are the payers of tax money, not the receivers. Young people trying to buy their first homes also are the victims."

Taylor said the bill will cause the city to take a "wait and see" attitude until it can be determined what Congress is going to do. With the moratorium on municipal mortgage bond issues until May 14, there cannot be any issued at this time, Taylor said.

The city will be waiting to see what the House Ways and Means Committee decides May 14. "They may come up with guidelines on issuing revenue bonds. Prohibiting the bonds would require an amendment to the Internal Revenue Service statutes," Taylor concluded.

There could be no such searches in traffic or misdemeanor cases unless police have reason to suspect weapons or drugs. And body officers other than the mouth could be checked only with a search warrant and under the supervision of a doctor.

It would have required majority approval by both Illinois and Missouri commissioners, and two of the four Missourians were opposed. The Missouri vacancy on the ten-member board.

The Illinois House Executive Committee approved 10-2 Friday a ban on abortions unless the woman's life is in danger. The panel also okayed giving cities and counties the right to set their own minimum drinking age for beer and wine. The age now is 18, and some legislators are trying to change it to 21.

He opposed Gateway involvement in regional projects that require endless studies and that are unlikely to be funded. He hopes to see a "regional insurance and emergency medical services. Melucci denies that Gateway will become a "rubber stamp" for city projects and will increase staff communication with city halls.

L. A. Pasley dies at home

Leonard A. "Jake" Pasley Sr., 50, of 2308 E. 21st St., was found dead at his home at 5:20 a.m. Sunday from a bullet wound to his chest.

His widow, Mrs. Viola Pasley, said her husband had been in ill health about one year and was depressed. A note was on the chest.

Mrs. Pasley said she and her husband went to bed about 10:30 p.m. Saturday and she awoke at 5:20 a.m. Sunday to find her husband was not in bed. She said she found him on the kitchen floor, face down, with a .22 caliber rifle near him.

House OKs bigger fines for blocking railroad crossings

Legislation imposing stiffer fines on railroad crossing blockings for more than 10 minutes has passed the Illinois House of Representatives.

Rep. Everett C. Steele (R-Glen Carbon), sponsor of the legislation, said passage of this measure is "a victory for every motorist in Illinois."

Current Illinois law prohibits the blocking of railroad-highway intersections for longer than 10 minutes, but House Bill 751 "puts teeth into the existing law by making the penalties stiffer."

Under the legislation, a 20-minute crossing blockage would result in a $1,200 fine.

"The 10-minute law has been flagrantly ignored by railroads in the past," Steele said, "violating motorists' rights as well as creating hazards to health, property and a safety."

"I sponsored this bill because I wanted to return the right-of-way on our roads and highways to the motorists, free from unlawful obstructions, and apparently my colleagues in the House felt the same way."

The bill will now go to the Senate, where Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) will be its sponsor.

A separate public hearing on the town budgets is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 15, in the city council chambers in the Granite City Hall.

The special service desk at Cohen's will be the last special sales location offered this year, Stevens said.

Huniak earns sales award

Nick A. Huniak, who is associated with Granite Chrysler-Plymouth, has been honored for his sales performance during 1978. At a dinner dance held at the Red Carpet Inn in St. Louis, Ted Cunningham, St. Louis zone manager for Chrysler Corp., presented Huniak with a plaque and merchandise awards as the top volume Chrysler-Plymouth salesman in the zone, which includes Missouri, Southern Illinois and parts of Kentucky and Eastern Indiana. At 25, Huniak is the youngest salesman ever to achieve this honor, Cunningham said. He has been selling Chryslers and Plymouths at the local agency for the past six years and has attained national honors by being elected to the "Elite 300" of Chrysler's Sales Honor Society. A 1971 graduate of Granite City High School South, Huniak now resides in St. Jacob with his wife, the former Diana Hoffman, and their newborn son, Nicholas.

Venice staff cutbacks delayed until May 10

A final decision on staff cutbacks in the Venice School District will be made at the Venice Board of Education's May 10 meeting, it was decided at last week's reorganization session. It was agreed to delay the action until the first meeting in May to allow the new board members seated that night to have an opportunity to hear what has been discussed to date. "I believe it would not be fair to Mr. Mosby and Mr. Turner to ask them to vote tonight on such an important issue as this," Jack R. Tolliver, board president, stated, referring to James E. Turner Jr. and Raymond "Chuck" Mosby who were elected April 14 to three-year terms on the school board and were formally seated as members at the same meeting. A delay in action likewise was taken in regard to a proposed referendum in the Venice district relating to a new policy of charging students for textbooks. Board Attorney Lawrence Hartman stated, "Obviously, we should schedule such a referendum before the fall term starts, so parents and pupils know in advance what is coming up in the next school year." "Maybe this would not work out to be quite as bad as its sound," Tolliver said, speaking of a textbook charge. "Possibly we could work something out whereby the students turn in their books for resale to the next class of students," he speculated. The board also proposed earlier that students be charged for sundry supplies, such as pencils, paper, and similar items that are consumable. A decision on this proposal also must be made soon, Tolliver said. All agreed, however, that the staff reduction proposal must be finalized by the May 10 meeting. "We should let the staff members know their tentative assignments for the 1979-80 school year as soon as possible," Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers said, adding that such a decision would allow the board to rescind as many letters (honorable dismissal notices) "as we can safely do so." Vickers discussed the status of legislative action that will permit school districts to utilize special education building funds, which so far have been restricted for that purpose only. At the present time, the Venice School District has a total of $135,000 in time certificates in the Special Education Building Fund account. For the past two years a four cents per $100 assessed valuation tax has not been levied on Venice residents although this is allowable under this fund, Supt. Vickers noted. In an unprecedented move, the board authorized the sum of $40,000 removed from the Special Education Building Fund in order to meet last week's payroll, should an additional $75,000 in tax anticipation warrants not be received from the First National Bank in Madison that previously has allowed the school district to draw up to $250,000 in such warrants. Supt. Vickers said Friday morning that $20,000 in time certificates had been cashed that day to cover payroll expenditures.

Circle meets at Tracy residence

The Every Member Busy Circle of Nameoki United Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. Joyce Tracy, who led in the opening prayer. After the opening Mrs. Alta Stewart gave the lesson on Lydia in the study of the women of the Bible. Mrs. Ruth Hancock presided over the business session, with reports from secretary Norma Riden and treasurer Alta Stewart. The rummage sale to be held on May 5 was discussed, with the time set for 8 a.m. at the church. The mother-daughter salad buffet is to be held on May 14 at 6:30 p.m. The entertainment portion will feature Grace Baptist's "Muppets." The group is four years old, has been well-received at many camps, churches and shopping centers. They have performed in four states and the ages of the members ranges from junior high to college. The performance will be done to music with drama, and plain conversation to the audience, it was noted. Mrs. Tracy served refreshments to those named and Betty Wester, Luan Briner, Jean Martin, Helene Bischof, Cindy Koen, Jane Patton, Lois Holsinger, and Penny Kessler.

SENTENCING SOON

Sentencing of former Sheriff John Maeras, Capt. John Cooper and Leland Stoller is set for 9 a.m. Friday in Alton. The Edwardsville Intelligencer quoted a doctor March 19 as saying Maeras had an incurable tumor. He later was reported to have undergone brain surgery but almost immediately resumed an active schedule and there is considerable uncertainty about his exact health outlook.

Officer Friendly wows youngsters with magic

Photos and text by Cathey Jamison

Teaching the little ones to see the police as friends is the job of Officer Friendly (Fred Hoffman). In the case of the kindergartners at McKinley School, a little magic didn't hurt.

Hoffman, who has been Officer Friendly for the past two years, said that the kindergartners get a very basic, safety type program. He uses his magic tricks to emphasize some of the rules of safety that he talks to them about.

The bottomless water jug trick, for example, stresses to the children how dangerous bodies of water can be. He tells the youngsters that they never know the depth of the water they may be wading in and that they should not wade unless there is an adult present.

Some of Hoffman's magic deals with traffic safety themes and another with not taking candy from strangers.

The kids enjoy Officer Friendly's visits. They learn something and have fun doing it.

The Officer Friendly program has been around for seven years. At first it was manned by volunteers. Then two years ago Hoffman became the first full time Officer Friendly. The program was set up to promote good community relations with the Police Department.

Part of Hoffman's job as Officer Friendly is to visit the elementary schools. He does this throughout the school year, visiting each class in the system, grades kindergarten through six.

Hoffman has programs for the different grade levels, talking the very basics to the kindergartners and the basics plus to the older kids.

Officer Friendly is quite a celebrity in the Granite City school system. He has become so popular that it is an event whenever he visits a class. One youngster at McKinley, who was home ill on the day of the visit, had his mother bring him to school so that he could meet Officer Friendly.

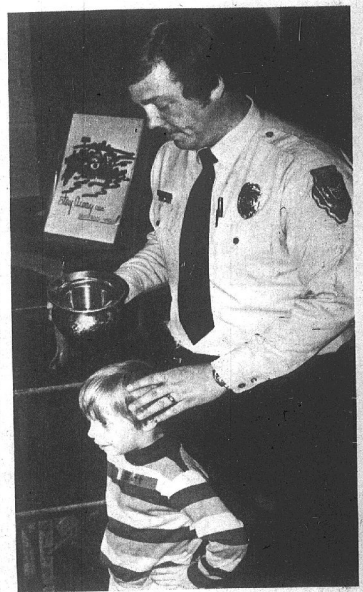

Hoffman heads up several adult programs in his job as community relations officer.

"Lady Beware" is the name of a presentation that Hoffman gives to women's groups. He talks about ways that women can prevent and protect themselves from attack.

Other adult programs include Crime Blocker, Burglary Prevention and Operation Ident. Hoffman also gives talks on drug and alcohol abuse.

When Hoffman is not visiting schools or giving a talk, he is busy with Explorer post 1033, sponsored by the Granite City Police Department.

Hoffman is pretty busy in his job as Officer Friendly, but as he puts it, "I enjoy helping the people of the community better understand their police and the work they do."

Separation of local, long distance phones called costly, inconvenient

The nation's telephone users want continued assurance that they can call anywhere, instantly and at a price within their means, Illinois Bell President Charles Marshall told the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Communications last week.

"Over the years, the nationwide telephone industry and its regulators have produced the world's finest telephone service. But changes in customer needs and advances in telecommunications technology have raised difficult public policy questions which must now be answered clearly," Marshall said.

The Senate Subcommittee is conducting hearings into two bills (S. 611 and S. 622) introduced last month to amend the Communications act of 1934.

Marshall said local service rates could rise as much as 50 percent for Illinois customers if the bills were approved as written.

He said that if telephone companies have to develop subsidiaries to provide separate local, long distance and equipment services, as proposed by the bills, such duplication of service would be both inconvenient and costly to customers.

"A customer might need to contact as many as three places to establish service," Marshall said. "He might not even know whom to call to have it repaired, since he would have no way of knowing where the trouble is."

Marshall said the nation's telephone companies must retain the right to provide both local and long distance communications.

"The value of the integration of facilities was clearly demonstrated only a few months ago during Chicago's record blizzard of 1979. When the snow blocked virtually all means of transportation, marooned Chicagoans reached increasingly for their telephones," he said, adding:

"As the local network reached capacity, local calls were routed to the giant electronic long distance switching system in the city which was able to complete them."

While emphasizing the importance of maintaining both local and long distance services, Marshall added that the telephone companies recognize that other suppliers should be permitted to connect their facilities and equipment to the telephone network.

Marshall said that telecommunications customers — as long as one of these choices continues to be their ability to obtain as much of their service as they want from their local telephone company," he said.

The Illinois Bell president also addressed the implications in the proposed legislation changing the methods of pricing local telephone service.

"Today, revenues from long distance calls, both state and interstate, help cover the common costs of providing both long distance and local service — to help universal service by holding down local rates," he said. Senate Bill 611, sponsored by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings (D. S.C.), would retain the long distance contribution to local service, but would gradually reduce the proportion of the amount.

S. 622, sponsored by the Sen. Barry Goldwater (R. Ariz.), as well as a bill now being considered in the House (H.R. 3333), would phase out any long distance revenue contribution to local service.

Urging that the present process be retained, Marshall said that it has proven effective as a method for sharing costs and revenues and should not be discarded in favor of "unstudied and untested proposals."

Marshall proposed that federal and state regulators be asked to form a joint board to study the problem of recovering costs of local service and recommend a solution that balances the interests of both local and intercity carriers.

He noted that customers will "still expect to be able to call any other phone — that their calls will instantly go through, reach their intended destination whether across the street or across the world, and be priced within their means."

"That's what they want now. That's what they want — someone who is totally responsible for their communications services."

"The facilities which provide the nationwide services are planned, designed, constructed and administered as a single, nationwide telecommunications network."

"That network is designed to connect on demand any telephone in the country with any other."

And as new technology is developed, it must be compatible with earlier generations of equipment still in use to provide the entire service."

Marshall said there is much good in the two Senate bills under consideration by the subcommittee. The bills, he said, recognize the growing diversity of the country's communication needs and the variety of resources available to meet them.

"The bills also seek to foster competition," he said,

"to reduce regulation, and to assure the benefits of rapidly expanding technology to the broadest base of telecommunications users."

New Amsted records

AMSTED Industries announced today that sales and earnings in the six months ended March 31, 1979, were at all-time highs for the first half of a fiscal year.

Sales totaled $413,902,000, up $102,465,000, or 33 percent from the same period a year ago.

Earnings were $31,065,000, or $2.88 per share, up from $20,333,000, or $1.89 per share.

Net income amounted to 7.5 percent of net sales compared to 6.5 percent last year. The improved margin reflects principally an increased volume of shipments. The earnings per share reflect the two-for-one stock split effective May 19, 1978.

Joseph B. Lanterman, chairman, and Goff Smith, president, said that in the March quarter, sales were $207,445,000, up $53,927,000 from the same quarter last year.

Net income was $13,890,000, or $1.27 per share, up from $7,266,000, or 74 cents per share. Net income amounted to 6.6 percent of net sales compared to 5.2 percent in the March quarter last year.

AMSTED had $8,000,000 in cash and short term investments and no borrowings under its revolving credit agreements at March 31, 1979.

Lanterman and Smith stated that AMSTED's backlog of orders at March 31, 1979 amounted to $455,000,000 compared to $355,000,000 at Sept. 30, 1978, and $217,000,000 a year ago.

Orders for freight car components made up the largest portion of the backlog and constituted the largest portion of the increases in backlog over both a year ago and September 30, 1978.

Approximately 115,000 new freight cars are on order to be built by the industry as compared to 46,000 a year ago and 27,000 at the beginning of the fiscal year, aiding American Steel Foundries here.

The backlog of orders for general industrial products is up from the beginning of the fiscal year and from the level a year ago, reflecting the continued strength of the general economy.

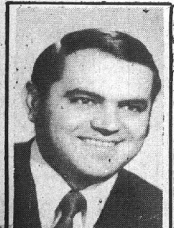

Orders for construction and building products are up slightly from the start of the fiscal year, and up significantly from the level a year earlier, principally due to inclusion of the acquired Henry Pratt Co.

Lanterman and Smith said, "A continuing high level of freight car building and a strong demand for railroad repair parts are anticipated for the last half of fiscal 1979, even though continued stability of the overall economy appears uncertain."

IOWA ACCIDENT

Student-employer dinner on May 8

The fifth annual "Student-Employer Appreciation Banquet" of the Granite City School District's Off-Campus Education Program will take place at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 8, in the Granite City Township Center auditorium.

Plans for the event were completed at last week's meeting of the Off-Campus Advisory Council. Principal speaker for the evening will be Bob Hardy, past potentate of Alnad Shrine Temple and widely known KMOX-Radio personality.

Initiated as an incentive to employers hiring co-op students, Shaffner said the program would cover comparable hours for students released from school to work at an approved job.

Changes in Cooperative Education guidelines were reviewed and advisory council members were asked to pay particular attention to areas specifically relating to their employment field.

The council members agreed to meet July 10 at Charlie's Restaurant for a "Dutch treat" dinner.

DEATH AND DYING — CHALLENGE AND CHANGE VII: THE DYING PATIENT.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh in a series of 15 articles exploring "Death and Dying: Challenge and Change." In this article, Avery D. Weisman, a professor of psychology, identifies the elements of a "good" death. This series was written for COURSES BY NEWSPAPER, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Copyright (c) 1978-79 by the Regents of the University of California.

Death is inevitable, but how one dies is not necessarily beyond human control or influence. Some deaths, like some lives, are better and more acceptable than others.

Patients, families, and physicians — as well as others who must share the burden of a patient's dying — can learn to work together and strive for a suitable arrangement of circumstances that provide a decent death.

For the dying patient, with whom I am primarily concerned, the prospect of death is seldom pleasurable.

Most people want to live, but to live well or at least with a semblance of what they were like at their best.

Stripped of the traditional terror and fears that cluster around thoughts about death, there are certain principles which can promote a better milieu for a patient for whom death is inescapable.

Not only is a better dying fostered, but bereavement of survivors is apt to be shorter and less painful, while just as sincere.

Heeding these essentials will encourage a more harmonious demise. So far as one can tell, as reported by dying patients themselves, the experience of dying becomes what it should be in the first place: the last part of being alive, but being alive as a person.

What is it like to be dying? What can devoted families and friends do when cure is out of the question, and the only remaining question is, "When?"

Dying can be very lonely, but, if one is lucky or prudent enough, very fulfilling.

Recently, men and women, professionals and volunteers alike, have reached out to beleaguered patients and families, offering compassion, companionship, consolation, practical assistance, and terminal nursing care.

Care for the dying should be seen as a privilege, not a duty imposed by guilt.

Unfortunately, death in this country is often associated with poverty, debilitation and indignity, even when a dying patient is affluent.

There is an impoverishment of spirit that accompanies dying which threatens all but the most unusual patient. Better dying would recognize that family and friends are sometimes eager to do something tangible besides lamenting.

Patients have different personal needs, and no one formula fits all. The central principle is that someone is there to share and care during the final phase of life.

Dying itself requires a certain forethought, preparation, even rehearsal, to be done well.

Here are a few general principles:

CARE AND CHOICE. A dying patient should not hesitate to ask for help or relief. This may mean more analgesics for pain, sleeping medicine, or whatever else is useful in easing distress.

Self-assertion challenges the passive compliant wish for death and replaces it with a more active and courageous attitude.

Nevertheless, some patients are reticent about asking for anything, lest they be considered lacking in character or be refused. Many patients have been observed waiting until their pain is unbearable before notifying the nurse.

At the same time, some doctors withhold pain medication for fear their patients will become addicted to a most unlikely outcome. Such doctors are either afraid of death themselves, or unable to recognize reality.

To ask for help in controlling pain is a good way for patients to control their own comfort and clarity of mind, an option that is not insignificant at a time when choices are few.

Dying patients need to feel a sense of control over at least part of their plight. Otherwise, if control is completely gone, the disease takes over completely.

COMMUNICATION. Silent reverie — a chance to reflect upon who one is, and was — is important, but so is communication with others.

A dying person needs to talk about the individuality of impending death — what it is like, what is expected, what has been left undone.

Healthy people are uneasy in the presence of death and often find it difficult to communicate with the dying person.

They find it hard to tolerate the seemingly relaxed attitude of patients who should, according to popular expectation, be distraught.

But the patients' apparent attitude is not one of indifference or apathy. Indeed, it is acceptance of death, which survivors need to cultivate themselves.

However, it is unnecessary to dwell constantly on death, as if one were afraid to be afraid. Most dying patients are apprehensive and still accept their fate. Some patients accept death with less anxiety than they do a surgical operation.

Thus, a brief but authentic exchange between friends, even without many words, usually communicates more than does a lengthy and melancholy conversation.

A caring presence may be more comforting than eloquent words.

CONTINUITY. Even though he or she cannot take part in the ordinary activities that healthy people take for granted, a dying patient still resents being shut off from the daily flow of life.

Friends and family members who feel guilty about being well, taking vacations, buying new clothes, and so on, are doing the patient a disservice when they pretend that they, too, are still living.

Long-winded talk that fills up anxious space only isolates the patient further. But one should not have qualms about reporting life events to a dying person who has only this way of participating.

COMPOSURE. A good death is spoiled by emotional extremes. Naturally, one likes to be missed, but does not wish to be the cause of someone else's suffering.

If a dying person preserves poise in word and manner, even at great effort, such composure will be remembered, and perhaps emulated by others, when their time comes.

Individual differences matter much in how composed one is and in the means used to reach emotional equilibrium.

For some, a mist of medication offers a comfort that should not be denied. For others, consciousness is a boon that is not given up willingly.

TELLING THE TRUTH. Most dying patients know they are dying long before doctors tell them. It is impossible to pretend in the presence of treatments that fail, gloomy expressions, and gathering symptoms of decline.

That one will soon die is seldom a crucial question, even among children. "Nothing more can be done" is a phrase spoken by doctors and families, not patients.

The truth that cannot be told only because words are inadequate is often conveyed by the presence of people who care.

A family that supports a dying patient and accepts the impending death is better off than one which merely bemoans a prospect that cannot be changed. Breast-beating and blame have no place.

Dying patients who die a good death leave a legacy for survivors in that mourning is shorter, less painful, with fewer recriminations and much relief. Remembrance is then a tribute, not an emotional burden.

The dying patient can also help others. Candor with compassion, combined with tolerance for candor, means preparing survivors for bereavement.

True, few people are without fears as the threat of death emerges. But the most fearful is not at the next-to-last moment.

Help for the patient and survivor consists of whatever measures best fortify morale. Hope does not always mean hope for unlimited survival, but instead for survival with reasonable calm and significance, just as long as possible.

CLOSURE. Healthy people can scarcely imagine the reality of a good death. For the dying patient, it is within reach, regardless of the distress endured during earlier periods when treatment and recovery were uppermost goals.

A good death always seems to happen at the right time, perhaps because mundane matters have been left behind.

Death becomes acceptable and a citizen is drawn across suffering when one realizes that to surrender life is to give up what is not ours to keep.

of this year's program, needs and rights of children being the focus.

The United Nations has proclaimed 1979 International Year of the Child and during this year many nations are examining their programs for children.

Light of the UN Declaration of the Rights of the Child.

Cynthia Desabier of the Lutheran Children's Service Agency in Belleville will be the speaker at May Fellowship Day.

She holds a master's degree in social work from Indiana University Graduate School of Social Work in Indianapolis and has held several positions of social worker and child-adolescent counselor in various states.

Currently, she is employed as a social worker-counselor by the service agency in Belleville, primarily involved in family counseling, counseling of unmarried parents and pre and post placement counseling of prospective adoptive parents.

Concern for children and for family stability has long been a priority of Church Women United, Mrs. Marion Pierson, president of the Quad-City group explained.

This concern most recently surfaced in the 1979 People's Platform for a Global Society which incorporated priority issues from the 2,000 local units of Church Women United throughout the United States.

The platform reads: "A concern for the plight of children and the elderly is at the base of (each) family stability plans. Child-care facilities which provide a comprehensive learning experience for children are positive indications of our commitment to the future...."

The increase in single parent households and in families where both parents work makes the establishment of child-care facilities a pressing need...."

Church Women United has sponsored May Fellowship Day since 1933. Each year the theme stresses the promotion of creative and healing relationships in every community.

This year the celebration will call participants to consider the needs of children in local communities and become advocates for children everywhere, Mrs. Pierson said.

Hennrich proves he's 'good enough' for Illinois State

By Kevin Allen
of the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — If it weren't for the slipperiness of the Edwardsville Tigers, the Granite City North Steelers would have a perfect record.

The baseball Steelers were the victims of a 2-1 10-inning squeaker Saturday following a first game 3-1 win.

The loss, only the second for the Steelers, was strikingly similar to North's only other defeat this season. Both were at the hands of the Tigers and both went into extra innings. The Tigers won the earlier contest 10-6 in eight innings.

The Steelers weren't without chances to take the lead in the game. The Tigers were generous, allowing five Steeler runners to reach base via errors.

North however, squandered the chances with what its coach Bob Stegemeier characterized as "over-aggressive base running. The Steelers left a runner stranded in the eighth, two in the ninth, and two more in the tenth."

"I hope we learn from these mistakes," Stegemeier said. "But I'm not too worried about them. I think that they are correctable. In some of our wins we came out okay being overly aggressive, but Edwardsville was alert and caught us."

The Steelers' only run in the game came in the first. Jeff Stamper reached on an error by Edwardsville's second baseman. He was awarded second when the Tiger's pitcher Jim Scheibal, who allowed the Steelers only five hits in the game, balked. Stamper scored from second when Bob Ford singled.

Dan Allaria scored for the Tigers, when in the third inning, he reached first on a walk. Two wild pitches later he was at third, where he scored on a sacrifice fly.

For the next five and a half innings, both teams went scoreless, but in the bottom of the tenth the deadlock was broken.

It was again Allaria who scored. After he walked, he was chased home by a double off the bat of Bob Manville.

"We played some kids we don't normally play," said Stegemeier about the loss in the nightcap. "But that wasn't the reason we lost. They came up with the hits, we just couldn't score."

In the first game, the Steelers won behind the strong-as-usual pitching of Steve Doty. Doty pitched a complete seven innings, giving up five hits and two walks, while striking out five.

The Steelers scored all three of their runs in the sixth on three singles and a pair of walks.

Tom Greco led off with a single, and went to second on Bob Ford's sacrifice. Mike Robertson walked, and both Greco and Robertson scored when Larry Burns singled.

Burns moved to second when Dennis Page walked, show him he wasn't making a mistake."

Hennrich, a Granite City South product, has quite a tradition to follow from his old high school.

Greg Linhart, a 1978 ISU graduate and now a member of the Philadelphia Phillies organization, holds the third record for career hits and hits in a season. Another South High grad, Mike Martinez, was an ISU outfielder for two years.

Somewhat surprisingly, it was neither Linhart nor Martinez who influenced Hennrich to attend ISU. It was an assistant baseball coach at South, instead — Greg Patton.

"Coach Patton was a member of ISU's 1969 national championship team, and always spoke highly of Coach Bass," Hennrich said. "Also my head coach (Babe Champion) has pretty much the same coaching philosophy as Coach Bass, which I like."

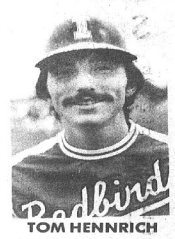

The biggest adjustment Hennrich says he has had to make in college ball is with tougher pitchers and better runners on the bases.

"Pitchers in college have better location on their pitches, plus they throw a lot more sliders," Hennrich analyzed. "And I've found I can't take as much time on my throws over to first because there is so much speed on the bases."

Although the pitchers may indeed be tougher, Hennrich hasn't let it affect his batting average. A .400 hitter as a three-year starter at Granite City South, the left-handed swinger hit .520 during the fall campaign and has collected 11 hits in his last 24 times at bat this spring.

"I always knew I could hit. It was just a matter of getting my confidence," Hennrich commented. "I think I have everything smoothed out now."

Cold . . . Hazelwood East takes victory in 'long' South track classic

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — It may have been the longest track meet ever. It may have been the coldest. But for Hazelwood East, it was a pleasure.

East's Trojans came through with a team victory here Friday night in the seventh annual Granite City South Track Classic at Memorial Stadium.

The meet, moved from Saturday morning and afternoon to Friday evening, ran until the wee hours of the night, the final event coming around 11 p.m.

The victory by Hazelwood East ended a six-year stranglehold by St. Louis-based Lindbergh High on the Large School championship. Herculanium High of Missouri dethroned Madison as small school champ.

Granite City South could do no better than 12th place out of the 19 teams entered in the large school division. GC North's Steelers placed 17th. Madison finished fifth in the small school race.

Alton High had the lead most of the meet. In fact, the Redbirds didn't lose that lead until the final event of the meet — the mile relay. Hazelwood West won the event, but Alton didn't place. West racked up a total of 80 points prior to that last race.

Alton could well have had an easy time of it in the meet, had it not been for a lackluster performance in the relay events. Alton managed just one place-getter among all the varsity relay events—a fifth place in the two-mile relay.

Granite City South's Steve Adams managed a third-place tie in the pole vault. He and Hatokeymo of McCluer North cleared a height of 13 feet.

Madison's lone point in the meet came in the long jump when Sylvester Collins placed fifth with a leap of 19 feet, 11½ inches.

Madison Coach Charles Steptoe put much of the blame for his team's inability to defend its small school title on the fact that the Trojans were entered in the O'Fallon Relays Thursday, had several key athletes hampered by injuries and a desire by the Madison coaching staff to protect athletes' health for future, more important meets. Steptoe scratched most of his team's entries in the sprinting events. "I'm not exactly in the best of moods," said Steptoe. "We ran last night (Thursday) at O'Fallon, and we've got some people out who we need. But we'd rather have them healthy later on when it really counts than have them do well in one particular meet."

Steptoe was referring to the IHSAA Class A District meet later in May — the stepping stone to the State Meet in Charleston. Madison was state runner-up last spring.

In addition to the varsity events, a sophomore division also took part. The points accumulated by a school's sophomores counted toward the varsity team score.

Most of Granite City's team points came from the two high schools' sophomore clubs. South's Don Keeling turned in an outstanding performance, winning the 440 taking a third place in the 100 yard dash, and taking second in the 220 yard run.

The reason he had them finished second in the 220 was...Pete Buchanan of Granite City North. He EASY DOES IT. Granite City North's John Kefalas makes sure everything is done correctly as he pole vaults Friday during early rounds of the GC South Track Classic at Memorial Field.

Triple play in sixth gives Warriors win

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

With the help of a sixth-inning triple play, the Granite City South baseball team gained a split here Saturday of its doubleheader with Washington, Ill. South won the second game 3-1, after dropping the first 7-4 in 11 innings.

In the nightcap, South had a 3-1 lead in the Washington half of the sixth when things started to get a little sticky for Warrior pitcher Mike DeGonia.

First, Washington shortstop Steve Hipp singled to rightfield and went to third when catcher Dan Witzig double-d. That was all for DeGonia. He left the game in favor of reliever Al Yount. What happened next is a pitcher's dream, and a batter's nightmare.

Don Noe, the Washington second baseman, hit Yount's first pitch to South shortstop Rich Cope, who threw the ball to first baseman Jim Thurman for the first out.

But Hipp and Witzig became confused in their base running. As Hipp headed for home, he changed his mind and headed back to third. But Witzig had the same idea. Seeing this, Thurman ran directly at the two runners, tagged Witzig out between second and third and threw home to catcher Mark Linhart, who tagged out Hipp. The triple play was scored 6-3-U-2.

That play saved a possibly big inning for Washington and preserved South's split. But South Coach Babe Champion wasn't pleased — despite the triple play.

You can't rely on a play like that every time to get you out of a jam," he said. "But it sure was nice to see. But I was a little disturbed by some of the errors we were making in the first game. We had more errors in the outfield in the first game than we had in the infield."

In that first game, South virtually gave the victory away to Washington on a silver platter.

Washington's Panthers came up with three unearned runs in the seventh inning to tie the score at 4-4 and force the issue into extra innings. Things appeared easy enough for a South win when the Warrior infield turned a 6-3 one-out double play. But two hits, two walks an error by the rightfielder and an error by the South second baseman gave Washington enough of an opening to score the tying runs.

In the extra innings, South had no shot at Washington shortstop Mike Bauer. He mowed through the Warrior lineup like so much wet grass to a lawnmower.

Washington, meanwhile, was giving South fits every time at bat. The Panthers finally broke through in the eleventh inning when they scored three times.

"We thought we had it won," lamented Champion. "We (the South coaches) just hope the team has learned something from this. But they should have known before now that No game is EVER over early."

Champion commented on his club's base running in the game. "I guess the only positive thing we can say is that we ran the bases very aggressively," he said. "When we scored our runs, we were forcing Washington into some mistakes. We were making things happen."

South got its runs in the third and fourth innings. In the third, Thurman reached base on an error by Washington shortstop Hipp. He went to third on a single by Pat Hogan and scored on an error by second baseman Don Noe. In the fourth, DeGonia walked, went to second and third on passed balls by Washington catcher Witzig and scored on a wild pitch by Mike Cunningham. Shortstop Rich Cope scored after reaching base on an error, advancing on a wild pitch and coming home on a sacrifice off the bat of Thurman.

Then Hogan walked, stole second and came home when Trotter singled.

In the second game, South jumped on top in the third inning when Jim Vrennick

Girls finish low at Alton

ALTON — The Belleville West girls track team won the championship here Saturday in the running of the annual Alton Girls Relays.

Granite City South finished in 12th place with 11 points, Madison had 6 and Granite City North had 3.

West finished with 83 points, 40 more than second place Sumner (St. Louis).

The highest place-getter for the Quad Cities was Darlene Reed of Madison, who won the shot put with a toss of 38 feet, ¾ inch. Dawn Ford, despite nursing a back injury, managed to finish third in the long jump. The South 440 low hurdle shuttle relay team finished third, as did its 210 X 3 low hurdle shuttle squad. Cindy Jackovich of South finished third in the discus with a toss of 96-¾.

In the junior varsity competition, North finished fourth with 587 points. West won the junior varsity meet with 62. Sumner had 60, East St. Louis 59. South and Madison did not enter its varsity team.

South survives Kahok comeback for win

Special to the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — The Granite City South baseball warriors breathed a sigh of relief here Friday.
 The South baseballers survived a comeback attempt by Collinsville to claim a 6-2 victory. South scored three times in the sixth inning to insure the win.
 Collinsville looked like anything but a below .500 ball club when it broke open a scoreless tie with a run in the second inning off South's Terry Lindsay. But it could have been more, except for a case of highway robbery at first base.
 Keith Throm singled, followed by a Vince Plantz ground ball to second base. South's Kevin Sykes tried to get Throm at second, but didn't do it in time. Shortstop Rich Cope then threw to first, with Plantz being called out. But he had already crossed the bag. Mark Campbell then hit a Texas-Leaguer to rightfield, which scored Throm.

 South came back with three runs of its own in the third inning. Mark Linhart, the South catcher, opened the inning with a base hit and was bunted to second by Sykes.
 Jim Thurman doubled home Linhart and scored himself when Pat Hogan singled. After Hogan was singled at first base, Jeff Parker walked to keep the rally alive.
 Parker came in to score when a single off the bat of Todd McFarland got by Plantz in rightfield for a two-base error.

 After Collinsville scored a run in the fourth inning to cut the Warriors' lead to 3-2, South got those three insurance runs in the sixth inning.
 Parker started things in the sixth inning with a triple down the rightfield line. Jeff Tretter then doubled up the gap in left-centerfield to drive Parker home.
 Honda Ambuehl then doubled to drive in Tretter. The third run of the frame came when Collinsville first baseman Miller dropped a throw, allowing Ambuehl to score.
 South Coach Conrad "Babe" Champion was pleased with his own in the game hit the baseball in the team. "We did something we needed desperately," he said, "and that's hit the ball."

 In the Collinsville half of the sixth inning, the Kahoks mounted a comeback attempt which forced the removal of Lindsay from the mound. Al Yount was brought in to pitch with Collinsville runners at second and third with only one out.
 After Campbell flied out for the second out, Buske walked, leading the bases. But Yount got Barry Wilson to fly out to centerfielder Hogan and ended the threat.
 South will play a make-up game today (April 30) at home against Belleville East, beginning at 4 p.m.

SAFE. Granite City South baseball player Todd McFarland dives safely back into first base Saturday as the Washington, Ill., first baseman tries to put a late tag on him during a pick-off attempt. South lost the first game 7-4, but came back to win the second game 3-1.

North drubs Madison down St. Paul Vikes

By KEVIN ALLEN
 of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — In Granite City North's baseball game against the Madison Trojans, Thursday, it took the Steelers an inning to warm up. But it took only four more innings to finish the Trojans off.
 The Steelers won 10-0 in five innings, as they rolled over the young Trojans.
 Steeler coach Bob Stegemeier, locking the gate to the Steeler dugout after the abbreviated contest said, "This game wasn't a thing of beauty, but I know they feel. We were there a few years ago."
 The Trojans have taken their lumps this season, and the loss to the Steelers was expected by Madison coach John Paskus. "I had heard they could really hit," he said. "We're a young team, and we take our opponents game to game. I don't mind taking the losses if we play well."
 That being the case, Paskus probably had a harder time taking this loss. The Trojans committed eight errors, as the Steelers broke into double figures with only eight hits.

 In addition to the Trojan's lack of experience, a lack of personnel is also a problem. Madison has only 14 players on its roster. So when Trojan starting pitcher Kenny Briggs struggled through a five-run second inning, Madison's pitching staff was pretty much depleted.
 Briggs allowed only one hit, the only runner in the first, but in the second, the first four Steelers he faced reached base and eventually scored.
 Only two of those hit their way on though. The first two North batters, Mike Robertson and Dick Awall singled. Larry Burns and Dennis Page reached on a walk and an error respectively. Robertson and Page both scored on wild pitches, while Awall and Burns came home on errors.
 Jeff Stamper, the Steelers' right fielder, scored later in the inning on another error after he reached on a fielders choice. All five runs were unearned.
 "Briggs is a better pitcher than he showed today,"

Paskus said. "He just wasn't sharp. I think the cold had a lot to do with it. He was complaining about his arm tightening up."
 In the third inning, Briggs moved to third and the Trojan third baseman, Keith Layton came on to pitch. Layton gave up four runs in the third on Steeler designated hitter Tony Pierce's double, a wild pitch, and two errors.
 Layton held the Steelers scoreless in the fourth. In the fifth, ahead 9-0, the Steelers needed only a run before the 10-run rule could be applied. The Steelers Bob Ford singled to open the inning, moved to second on an errant throw from the Madison catcher, and scored when Briggs mishandled a grounder hit by Brian Patterson.

 Madison's offense consisted of a single by Layton and a double by Briggs both in the second. And a fourth inning double by shortstop Jim Godair.
 Rich Faulkner started the game at pitcher for the Steelers, but gave way to Ron Pinkston in the third. Pinkston allowed only one hit.
 "Our pitching was really good today," Stegemeier said. "Especially Pinkston. The cold weather is tough on pitchers, but I'm glad we got to look at another junior."
 Friday, North's Keith Barton, Greg Luehmann, and Mike Robertson combined to pitch the Steelers to a 5-3 victory over St. Paul of Highland.

North selects defeat South

CHICAGO — The Southern Illinois select soccer team, made up of Under-18 year old players from the Granite City area, lost a 4-3 decision to the Northern Illinois select team here Saturday in action at WGN Field.
 In an Under-16 game, the South stars handed their Northern counterparts a similar 4-3 loss.

The Northern Illinois all-stars will come to Granite City May 12 for further action with the Southern Illinois team.
 On May 11, an Australian all-star team will do battle with the Southern Illinois Under 18 select team. Tentative plans are for the game to be held at Memorial Stadium at GCHS South under the lights.

GC's Rowden is IHSA gym champ

RIGHTON PARK — Pam Rowden, 14, a freshman at Granite City North, won the 1979 IHSA District Gymnastics Championship at Rich South High School, Saturday, April 28.
 In winning the first place All Around title, she defeated last year's district champion, Maria Simms, a junior from Edwardsville High who tied for second place with senior

GC's Bill Rusick

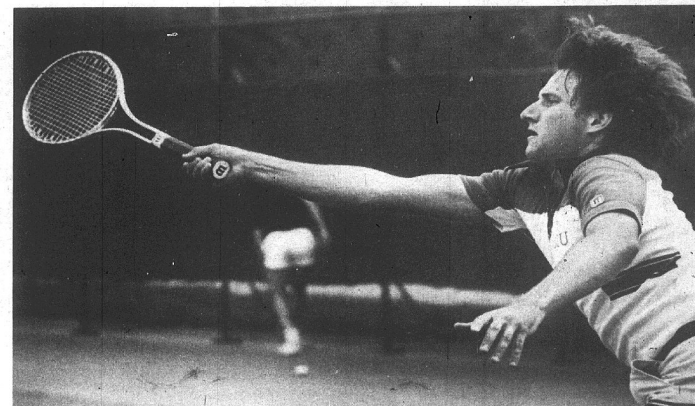

He has good memory

By AL BARNES
 For the Press-Record
EDWARDSVILLE — Most athletes have fantastically long and accurate memories. William Alvin (Billy) Rusick, senior tennis player on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville team, is definitely no exception to that rule.
 The hard-hitting tennis star from Granite City South High has played a key role in the march of the Cougars to national honors, culminating last June (1978) in the Cougars' winning the NCAA Division II national team championship at San Diego, California.

 What is his fondest memory in his four years on the SIUE tennis varsity?
 It is not being a member of the SIUE national championship collegiate squad, although that is near the top. Pausing for dramatic effect, Rusick continued, "It was beating Nichols (Bill) in three sets in the semis at the Drake Relays Invitational last year." He rattled off the scores: 5-7, 7-5, and 7-5.

Part of Rusick's "fond memory" was his coming back early this year to knock off Nichols in straight sets at Wichita, Kan., 6-2, 6-3.
 Why was beating Nichols, one of the standout tennis players from the Chicago suburbs, so thrilling to Rusick? Why did he have a burning desire to beat Nichols?
 It seems that Nichols was almost an impossible roadblock to Rusick's ambition of winning the Illinois High School State championship. In 1974, Rusick lost to Nichols in the quarterfinals. The following season, Rusick lost to Nichols and had to settle for fourth place in the state tournament.

 After both graduated from high school, Nichols enrolled at Wichita State, and Rusick was successfully recruited by DeMars.
 A recreation major, Rusick has no illusions about playing on the pro circuit. "It's not for me. I hope to land a teaching pro job just as soon as I finish up here. And, then we'll see," he said.

THE LONG REACH of SIUE's Bill Rusick pays off yesterday during number three singles action in Edwardsville against Murray (Ky.) State. Rusick, normally the number 4 singles, was moved up when teammate Raymoore O'Jala injured his back last week in the Drake Invitational. Rusick had to win a tie-breaker 5-4 to take his match 6-4, 6-6, 7-6. SIUE won the meet, 5-4.

Myers nips Wallace at wire

GRANITE CITY

Approximately 2,500

"frozen" racing fans witnessed one of the most exciting late model main event in Tri City Speedway history here Saturday night.

Late model drivers Mike Wallace of Arnold, Mo., and Mike Munson of Springfield, Ill., both started on the front row and battled for the lead side by side for 15 of the 30-lap feature until Munson clipped the outside retaining wall in turn number three and fell out.

However the yellow flag came out and gave Bill Myers of East Alton, Ill., a chance to catch up to Wallace.

From that point on it was a race to the checkered flag.

And what a race it was. But when the checkered flag was thrown, it was a photo-finish with Myers taking the win by inches.

This gives Myers his second win of the season after taking the opening night main event on the newly reopened half mile oval last Saturday night.

Myers, as well as winning the feature, captured the third heat event and led every lap to win the trophy-dash event for a clean sweep in the late model division.

The summary in the late model division goes as follows: The first heat was taken by Mike Munson. The second heat was taken by Mike Wallace and the third heat was Bill Myers. The consolation race was won by Mike Tobin of Springfield, Ill. A total of 37 cars were on hand.

In the Sportsman Division, Gary Wilson of Bowling Green, Mo., took his initial feature win of the season. He was followed by Paul Humphrey Sr. of Dupo, Ill. In the third position was Brooks Cairns of Brighton, Ill.

The first heat winner was Humphrey, the second heat winner was last week's feature winner Cletus Blackwell of Elsberry, Mo. (25 cars participated in the evening's racing).

There was a large number of entries in the sprint car division with approximately 35 cars entered for their second main event.

First heat winner was Tom Corbin of Carrollton, Mo. Second heat winner was Danny Smith of Indianapolis, Ind. The third heat was won by Kenny Schrader of Ballwin, Mo., who also won last week's opening night feature.

The sprint car trophy dash was taken by Chuck Amat of Herrin, Ill., and the consolation race was won by Danny Frye Jr. of St. Charles, Mo. In the 20-lap feature, Chuck Amat was the winner. He was followed by Kenny Schrader and Tom Corbin.

Race promoter Gil Rimel had smiles on his face after the evening's program. Rimel doesn't know, however, if the sprint cars will return to the local speedway next week or not.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Kiro Vasiloff of Granite City at the Sunset Hills Holiday Inn in Edwardsville. The buffet dinner was hosted by the couple's children.

Mr. and Mrs. Vasiloff mark 50th anniversary

Sunset Hills Holiday Inn of Edwardsville was the setting for the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Kiro Vasiloff of Granite City.

Approximately 150 guests attended the buffet-dinner and dance. The honorees were married April 6, 1929.

Hosting the festivities were the couple's four daughters, Mrs. Gordon (Bertha) Hoener of St. Louis, Mrs. Bob (Vas) Wehman of Troy, Mich., Mrs. Don (Anna) Gurnow of St. Louis, and Mrs. Lillian Phillips of Granite City. The couple has 11 grandchildren.

Tributes were given to the couple by several of the guests. Chris Anastasoff of St. Louis, spoke briefly, and Henry Karandjef, brother of Mrs. Vasiloff, also addressed the group.

Theodore Tchoukaeff of Alton, representing the Macedonian Patriotic Organization, presented them with a "50th anniversary wedding tree." The Rev. Kiril Antonoff of Youngstown, Ohio, spoke of his fond remembrance of Mr. and Mrs. Vasiloff. The invocation, before dinner, was presented by Father Stomboldjev of Madison, and Gordon Hoener introduced each speaker.

A choreographed program entitled, "Let's Make a Deal" featuring "Monty the Macedonian" and Carol Barrel was staged in order to present the Vasiloffs with a trip to Florida. The grandchildren presented this feature.

Mr. and Mrs. Vasiloff, natives of Macedonia, Greece, met in this country. Mr. Vasiloff operated the Standard Grocery in Granite City for 34 years, and is now retired.

Bay View Club studies history

Bay View Reading Club continued its study of the topic, "Little Known People and Events in American History," at its meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. Dale Rea.

In keeping with this theme, Mrs. James Stuart discussed tobacco and hemp. She traced the history of tobacco as an important source of revenue to the early American colonists. She also described its intricate cultivation from tiny seed to plant to finished product.

In her discussion of hemp, Mrs. Stuart pointed out that it is from the flower of the hemp plant that the drug marijuana is derived. The stalk of the plant provides the fiber used in coarse textiles like canvas and rope.

Mrs. Rea served a dessert luncheon to the 16 members present. Herman Huxel, president, conducted the business session. Members repeated the pledge of allegiance and the club collected and heard minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report.

State will help locate teaching jobs for those hit by staff cuts

A program designed to assist teachers who this spring are being honorably discharged due to district reductions-in-force has been announced by State Supt. Joseph M. Cronin.

"Recent news reports claim 'severe' teacher shortages in several teaching fields: speech and language impairment, agriculture, mathematics, chemistry, physics and some areas of special education," said Dr. Cronin.

"We know that hundreds of teachers will be getting notice of honorable dismissal and many will be in fields for which other districts are seeking to hire staff.

To assist those teachers who wish to return to the classroom next fall, as well as to assist districts who are finding it difficult to locate teachers, I am establishing a statewide registry for teachers reduced in force.

"Each district is encouraged to provide our Certification and Placement

Section with a list of those teachers who will be dismissed because of a reduction in force.

"Regional superintendents, as well as teachers and their professional organizations, are asked to assist in identifying those who will be dismissed."

The Certification and Placement Section of the Illinois Office of Education provides a monthly vacancy list showing teaching positions for which districts are recruiting.

It also assists districts seeking to fill positions by maintaining a registration and referral system of educators actively seeking positions.

Dr. Cronin encouraged districts to report vacancies and make use of the statewide registry.

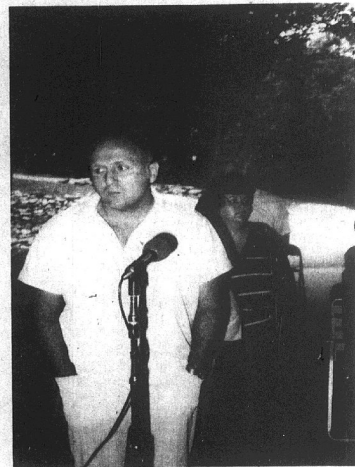

"Teachers who are getting dismissal notices because of reduction in force want to stay in teaching. These are the very individuals who have proved experience and may be just the candidates for whom neighboring districts are looking."

To register as a teacher dismissed because of a reduction in force, teachers and districts are being asked to provide the following information: Name of teacher, address, telephone number, district of present employment, certificates held, teaching fields, and other abilities.

This information should be forwarded — for sharing with districts seeking teachers in given subject areas and teaching specialties — to the Certification and Placement Section, Illinois Office of Education, 100 N. 1st St., Springfield 62777.

PASTOR OF GRANITE CITY RLDS congregation, Elder Sid Faulkner, waits his turn in a prayer service line to testify of Christ's work in his life. He spoke at a regional yearly family reunion of the Saints church.

Church reunion

The annual week-long Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints religious reunion held at Camp Woodland Hills near St. Clair, Mo. was the largest ever. Well over 100 families attended for religious ministry, instruction and discussion.

The guest ministers were St. Louis Regional Evangelist Delbert Smith and a Park College (Kansas City) recruiter, Elder Robert Slasor. Classes and preaching ministry were brought by these two as well as St. Louis Stake ministers, teachers and saints. Some Saints church members from other parts of the nation, including Chicago, attended the religious reunion with members of their family.

Instruction and discussion were held for all ages, from kindergarten upward.

"Camp Woodland Hills, owned by the St. Louis RLDS Saints, was a perfect setting for this annual event," Elder Sid Faulkner, Granite City pastor said.

Seek better access to convention center

At its regular monthly meeting, the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council board of directors last week endorsed a draft environmental impact statement on proposed improvements to Cole Street between 12th Street and Jefferson Avenue. The statement was submitted by the City of St. Louis and addresses a project under consideration since 1973.

The proposed improvements include widening of Cole Street from four to six lanes, traffic signals at key intersections and sidewalks along the entire improvement area. The project will provide improved access from the northern and western sections of the city to the Cer-

Venice collector seeks permit to live in Nameoki

Venice Township Tax Collector Jerry Maeras may be residing in a mobile home in Nameoki Township, if the Madison County Board approves the request of the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals next month.

The zoning board has recommended that a special use permit be granted to Jerry Maeras to continue the placement of a double-wide mobile home near Arlington Heights, "for the sole occupancy and usage of the Jerry Maeras family," according to the zoning board's report to the county board.

The report notes the property is "in an agricultural district in Nameoki Township. This is located in the east one-half of section 13, take Arlington Heights Road off of State Aid Route 35, take the road to the left before the apartments and continue all of the way to the last properties."

The zoning board also recommends that the permit be for a period not to exceed five years and that the mobile home must be removed from the property when the need for it has expired.

In his application for the permit, Maeras noted that he plans to construct a residence in the agricultural district of Nameoki Township.

Maeras was elected April 5, 1977, to his second four-year term as tax collector for Venice Township. His address has been listed at 811 Iowa St., Madison, which is in Venice Township.

The county's zoning board also recommended that a special use permit be approved for Harrison Padgett to store wrecked cars on a three-acre plot at 2622 Missouri Ave., and the property be rezoned from a B-3 highway business district to a B-4 wholesale business district. It is in Venice Township.

Also recommended for approval is a special use permit for Charles Van Jackson and Dorothy Gray Jackson to place a mobile home on Watson St., one block from Roosevelt in Eagle Park Acres, an R-4 single-family residential district of Venice Township. Stipulations are that the permit be for a period not to exceed five years and that it be for the sole usage and occupancy of the Dorothy Jackson family.

A free Contour Analysis examination is being offered for people with acute or chronic pain by the chiropractic offices listed below. People who suffer with backache, bursitis, arthritis, neuropathic nerve pain, neck pain, muscle pain, bone pain, etc. are invited to receive this free examination.

Contour Analysis enables taking a three-dimensional picture (called Mire photograph) of the topography of the surface of the spine to detect spinal stress deviations. This analysis will be correlated with leg deficiency, patient symptomatology, and levels of spinal tenderness. An analysis of this type can reveal such things as normal and abnormal stress patterns, spinal curvature, muscle spasms, muscle imbalance, spinal distortion, and scoliosis.

This analysis, including consultation with the doctor is being offered to the public at no charge. Anyone wishing to receive this free examination may telephone Dr. Reinhardt's office directly for information or an appointment.

FREEDOM VERSUS BIG GOVERNMENT. Harry Langenberg, above, speaks to members of the Granite City Optimist Club while Ivan Harrison (seated) looks on. Langenberg, an economist, spoke on the increasing role that government is undertaking.

Curb government to save freedom—speaker

"Individual freedom versus big government" was the subject of a talk given by economist Harry Langenberg during a regular meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club.

According to Langenberg, who is a broker with the firm of Newhard, Cook and Company, St. Louis, big government means a loss of individual freedom. The bigger bite the government takes, the less money there is left for the individual to pursue his own happiness.

Langenberg said that big government is responsible for inflation and the falling value of world currencies, due to the practice of spending more money than it has. In the U.S., he said, the national debt is three times greater than the nation's real income.

As the deficit grows, taxes go up. Unless one believes in human slavery, Langenberg contends, one must recognize the basic right of men to the fruits of their labor.

Langenberg said the government has a right to tax to insure life, liberty and property for the people, but at the present rate of about 42 percent, government has gone beyond what can be considered reasonable.

Even worse is the rising trend, which, if it continues, will hinder individual freedoms even further, he said.

"Government's job is not to divide the wealth, but to protect the basic freedoms granted by the Constitution. 'Knowledge is the answer,' according to Langenberg.

"With expensive government programs failing, the concepts of government's role must be looked at more carefully. The old ideas must be changed and new, productive ones must take their place.

"To encourage new ideas, more citizens must become aware of the problem.

"While we are learning more about the system, we must stop the flow of checks from Washington. Someone, somewhere, has got to say 'no' to government handouts.

Noise law requested to curb motorcycles

An ordinance to "crack-down" on noisy motorcycles is to be presented to the Granite City Council in the near future.

Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer told the council last week that noisy motorcycles and automobiles have been disturbing residents of his ward and elsewhere and he suggested that a stronger ordinance be prepared to reduce the noise.

He asked Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer and City Attorney Lance Callis to meet and determine if an ordinance can be drafted to replace the current vehicle noise law, to make it easier to enforce and carry stronger fines and penalties.

"Something has to be done about this noise, particularly from motorcycles. Maybe a new ordinance will do the job," Whitmer concluded.

Cleanup drive Saturday

The seventh annual "Operation Clean Sweep" will take place Saturday in the Lincoln Place area, it was announced today by Jake Varadian, who was responsible for organizing the cleanup campaign originally and has spearheaded the drive ever since.

Residents of the 10th precinct are being reminded this week to start checking their attics, basements, garages and yards for any unwanted items, placing the items to be discarded in the alley at the rear of their dwelling.

A work crew of volunteers, consisting of young boys and men, will start picking up the trash at 7:30 a.m. Saturday, Varadian said.

A 50 cent donation is being sought from participating residents to help defray the cost of providing refreshments for the volunteer workers.

The lunch time refreshment break will take place this spring on the grounds of the Mexican Honorary Commission's building, 1801 Spruce St.

In appreciation of the efforts of the youths assisting with the project, Varadian has escorted various groups on float trips along Missouri rivers.

Downtown needs sprucing up, meter law enforcement

Now that annual spring cleanup programs have focused public attention on the general subject — and the street department and City Council have initiated new efforts to improve municipal street services — perhaps increased attention can be given to the appearance of the Granite City central business district.

Planting of grass has enhanced a mini-park at the corner of 19th Street and Delmar Avenue but nearby is one of several Downtown area building walls that need sprucing up.

Demolition of various structures for parking lots and other purposes has exposed walls that were never intended to be seen and thus were never given a finished look. A coat or two of paint on them might work visual wonders.

While on the subject of the Downtown district, it is accurate to note that insufficient enforcement of parking meter regulations has led to extensive ignoring of the time limits, greatly reducing the availability of parking spaces to prospective customers. Stores want and need easy access for their patrons, and this can best be achieved if all-day parking can be prevented in zones intended for maximum stays of one or two hours.

Neighboring states gaining jobs while Illinois loses

Guest comment by Illinois Manufacturers' Association on efforts to improve this state's business climate

As pointed out in the Alexander Grant study of the 48 contiguous states, prepared for the Conference of State Manufacturers' Associations, one of the more negative factors is the state's unemployment compensation law.

Illinois ranks 43rd in terms of unemployment benefits paid per covered worker. It also ranks 42nd in the nation in terms of healthy condition of state Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund, which is almost $1 billion in debt to the federal government.

The debt must be repaid, which means Illinois employers face greater taxes in the future. An increase in unemployment would be extremely serious.

The discouraging ranking of Illinois on unemployment benefits paid per covered worker reflects the fact that many claimants receive benefits in Illinois which would be denied in other states. Also, our benefits are very liberal.

Illinois' unemployment compensation system needs vast improvement. The law should be changed to make it difficult for those who voluntarily leave work to receive benefits.

As pointed out in the Grant-COSMA study, Illinois ranks 44th in terms of the temporary total disability benefits for those who earn the state average manufacturing wage and 34th in terms of cost per $100 of payroll. Illinois employers potentially face an increase in rates by 36.8 percent, which has been filed by the insurance industry.

Illinois is among the more costly in the U.S. in terms of its benefits and administration. The system is more costly for employers than most of the states that are getting our jobs. Illinois workmen's compensation costs are much greater than neighboring Wisconsin, Indiana and Iowa, all of which registered net gains in manufacturing jobs.

Medical standards to determine extent of disability must be established to make the system fairer, quicker, and less costly. Employers must present evidence of conditions which preceded the accident.

Presently, an employer is caught in a "Catch-22." He must hire the disabled or face legal consequence. Yet, if he hires a disabled worker and his condition is aggravated or worsened while on the job, the employer is liable for the total disability.

As treasurer, Caster will succeed David L. Nels, who is relinquishing that post to devote full time to his duties as executive vice-president and chief financial officer.

Caster's election was announced following Friday's meeting of Post's board of directors, which followed the annual stockholders' meeting. All other officers were re-elected.

They are President V.I. Minahan, Executive Vice President Nelson, and Treasurer Lawrence J. DeCoster.

A graduate of St. John Fisher College, Rochester, Caster was employed as a public accountant with a Rochester firm and later became a senior accountant with Arthur Andersen & Co.

He also served as controller of Amper Marine Corp. in Rochester before joining the TV station.

Caster, his wife and four children plan to move to Appleton.

The board of directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of 12 1/2 cents per share. The dividend is payable on June 29 to shareholders of record June 15.

Both of these fired assistants are smart lawyers. They won't starve. The firings may be a blessing in disguise pushing them into more lucrative private practice.

The county's citizens are the losers. They can ill afford to lose people of established competence.

And all because of an opinion which we believe warps the law.

Inconsistent ruling on two assistant state's attorneys

Collinsville Herald — There is something known as the "reasonable man" theory. It holds that a reasonable man would understand it to be.

By that measure, the opinion by Assistant Attorney General William Wallin that city council members Don Weber in Collinsville and Stephanie Robbins in Edwardsville cannot continue as assistant Madison County state's attorneys, is hogwash.

The reasonable man asks "How can the one position influence actions in the other?"

The state's attorney himself would have a conflict — he might have to decide whether the county should sue the city.

He advises county officials on their legal questions, which might include dealings with the city. It wouldn't be right for him to be also a city official.

The two assistants are prosecutors. They can, and should, disqualify themselves from matters relating to action of the police departments over which they have some control as commissioners. But lawyers routinely disqualify themselves from things like that. No problem.

They don't make county policy. They don't advise county officials. They can't tilt the county to favor the city they serve.

Both Weber and Robbins have gained a high reputation for diligence and competence as assistant state's attorneys. State's Attorney Nick Byron will have difficulty replacing them with people of the same caliber.

If he follows the logic he used in firing Weber and Robbins, he must fire assistant Donald Smith. Smith has a far larger conflict than the one attributed to the two prosecutors. He deals with civil matters in the office, which includes advising the county on matters relating to cities and townships. Smith is attorney for Wood River Township.

Another assistant, Casper Nighossian, is city attorney for Madison.

We think a reasonable man would find that Weber and Robbins would not be affected in their prosecutor's role by their council role.

On the other hand, a reasonable man might suppose that he should not give his boss a simon-pure technicality to fire him, when there is possibly political motivation to fire him.

Byron is a Democrat. Weber is the son of a former mayor who fires off a steady stream of letters to the editor of various area papers criticizing the Democratic administration.

Both of these fired assistants are smart lawyers. They won't starve. The firings may be a blessing in disguise pushing them into more lucrative private practice.

The county's citizens are the losers. They can ill afford to lose people of established competence.

And all because of an opinion which we believe warps the law.

As treasurer, Caster will succeed David L. Nels, who is relinquishing that post to devote full time to his duties as executive vice-president and chief financial officer.

Free motorcycle safety instruction

Free motorcycle safety training courses are once again being offered by the Illinois Department of Transportation to Illinois residents 15 years of age and older.

The program, which has won four national awards from the Motorcycle Safety Foundation for excellence in motorcycle safety, consists of 12 hours of on-bike training and eight hours in the classroom.

All materials are provided, including motorcycles which are loaned by cycle dealers.

Students of the program learn basic maneuvers necessary for safe motorcycle riding in traffic. Much time is also devoted to discussions about protective clothing and helmets.

All training is done off-street. A driver's license is not required. Students under the age of 18 must have written parental approval.

Since its inception in 1975, the Illinois program has trained over 10,000 beginning riders in over 100 communities statewide.

Interested persons can learn more about the program and receive enrollment and course availability information by calling the motorcycle safety hotline: 800-2953.

City investigating drainage problems

Granite City Engineer Monroe Brewer has been asked to investigate drainage problems between Johnson Road and Riviera Drive, from Clark Avenue to Del Rio Avenue, to determine if drainage can be improved.

A petition bearing the signatures of five homeowners asking for better drainage was presented to the Granite City Council last week and the council asked Brewer to investigate.

Alderman Ronald

Coleman of the Seventh Ward said he has asked before if the area can be drained into the new storm sewers constructed with Maryville Road and asked Brewer to consider that possibility when studying the area.

Alderman Paul Ray Bowler of the Seventh Ward said he has heard the problem discussed before, but nothing has been done. He asked the engineer to put his findings and recommendations in writing and send a copy to Alderman Coleman and Bowler.

May continue meter fines at City Hall

Although the Granite City police department will move soon into its new building next to the city's main fire station, parking meter fines will continue to be paid in city hall, if a recommendation by the city's chief of police and city treasurer is accepted by the city council.

The council's finance committee is studying a recommendation that a part-time clerk be hired for the city treasurer's office to take over the collection of parking meter fines after the police department moves from city hall.

"It's for the convenience of the people," Chief of Police Ronald J. Veizer said, adding, "The parking meters are downtown and people are used to paying parking fines downtown, in the city hall."

Petrillo said he hires a clerk full-time in May for tax collections and could use her for a few days a week the remainder of the year to collect the traffic fines, a job now handled by police department secretary Marian Heinrich. She will move with the police department to the new building where she will be a clerk for the patrol division of the department, Veizer explained.

Some aldermen objected to expanding an estimated $5,000 per year for an additional employee and referred the issue to the council's finance committee for a recommendation.

"People who get parking tickets have cars, don't they?" Alderman Sam Whitmer asked, adding, "They can drive to the new parking building then to pay parking tickets."

He noted $6,000 is budgeted from parking meter receipts next year for the processing and collecting of tickets, which is sufficient to pay the part-time employee.

Volunteers aid sheltered home to churches who provide programs that fulfill the religious needs of the residents.

Individuals who do their volunteer work from their home by doing such things as mending resident's clothing, or making craft items and bakery goods for our fund raisings — to staff members who are so interested in the residents that they give of their own time to ensure that a special event is enjoyed by all.

Volunteers provide an invaluable service to our residents and staff. They help us to provide a more loving and caring atmosphere for our residents.

Without them, we would be unable to provide that extra special attention that makes this more of a "home" rather than an institution.

Without the involvement of our volunteers, our residents would be totally isolated from the community.

Our volunteers provide our people with an attitude of real purpose, looking forward to each new day, rather than existing from day to day.

We appreciate all those individuals and groups that have had any contact with the home, and we want them to realize that their services are invaluable to the residents of our home. There is no way we can adequately express our gratitude for their interest and support.

Join MacArthur memorial group

To the Editor:

Duty, honor, country — three words spoken by the late General of the Army Douglas MacArthur which are immortalized, words that today do not carry as much meaning as in the past.

The general no doubt was one of the greatest patriotic and military men in history.

His utterance of the words, "I shall return," also will be a phrase long remembered.

In perhaps 30 years or so the general will be little known, outside of history books. Parents across the country find to many young people stumbling around, trying to locate a worthwhile set of values and to achieve proper perspective on the values.

The Army and West Point objectives of duty, honor and country are an inspiration to follow.

An opportunity is open to the public. Not only would citizens be honoring one of the great generals of our time, but also would be giving meaning to these ideals, which will always be a part of our country — and in perpetuating the words "duty, honor, country," for many years and centuries to come.

In a recent letter from the MacArthur Memorial Foundation, MacArthur Square, Norfolk, Va. 23501, where the general is entombed, I learned that it has plans for a national membership organization, so that all America can be a part of his memory and what he stood for.

His many speeches and the other MacArthur memorabilia are available from the above address.

I hope everyone will participate in belonging and keeping alive the heroic deeds of great Americans did for our country — and in perpetuating the words "duty, honor, country," for many years and centuries to come.

May is Better Hearing Month

The month of May has been officially proclaimed as Better Hearing and Speech Month in this area. The ceremonies took place in the office of Mayor Paul Schuler with Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk participating.

A.W. Davis, of the Tri-City Hearing Aid Service, located at 1402 Rhodes St., is leading in the activities and is available for talks on hearing and hearing aids. According to Davis, this is a national observance, with all nine of the nation's major organizations associated with speech and hearing disorders coordinating nationwide efforts to acquaint the 16.2 million people who have hearing and speech problems with the fact that many can be helped.

Hearing loss is America's leading handicap, according to Davis. Many can be helped if they would seek medical help when they notice they can hear the phone better in one ear, or if they have a ringing noise in their ears, or if the family complains about a radio or television being too loud. The proclamation of May as Better Hearing Month has meaningful purposes all over America, Davis said. His advice to many in the area who have hearing problems is to see a doctor who specializes in diseases of the ear. Early diagnosis and treatment may correct the problem.

For information about any hearing aid specialist, or complaints about hearing disorders, contact the hearing aid center at Madison, which can be reached at toll free 1-800-521-5247.

Active schedule for GC Retired Persons

The Granite City Chapter 1340 of the American Association of Retired Persons enjoyed a pot luck dinner, with the rhythm band serving and presenting the evening's entertainment. After dinner, President Helen Bergfield opened the business meeting by asking for a moment of silent prayer in memory of the late Grace Range, who had been treasurer.

Fern Johnson gave a report of the March meeting. Vina Law, band director, told of the band's activities, including playing at the Senior Fair at SIUE. In a discussion of the financial report, it was noted that new card tables donated by the AARP are now in use at the center. Volunteers from AARP hosted the center on nesday, May 2, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Velma Finney, manager of the Clothing Center at 1254 N. Edwards Ave., asked for donations of furniture, appliances and usable clothing, particularly children's clothes. She said help is given to children and also families whose homes have burned. She praised AARP members Anne Pare, Ann Palsgrove and Jess Brunning for their continued help at the Clothing Center.

It was announced that the deadline for purchasing tickets to the dinner dance will be Friday, May 4. The dance will be held on May 9 at the Croatian Hall, Madison. Only those with paid tickets can be served dinner, there will be no tickets sold at the door.

President Bergfield appointed Clara Schlinger as treasurer. Elmer Hoover, coordinator of the Tax Aid Program for Madison and St. Clair counties, thanked the local tax aid counselors for their work during February, March and April.

She asked that Helen Bertacchi, Helen Bergfield, Juanita Crawley, J. Ben Jaimer, Charles Kelly, Sally Gracey and Peggy Moore be accorded recognition by the members. Irene Kadane reported that 10 new members had been added.

Oscar and Clara Ash celebrated their 43rd wedding anniversary, and the Fred Adair's 45th. Mr. and Mrs. Randall Irwin were introduced as guests.

Birthdays were celebrated. After the business session, games were played. A skill was presented by members of the band. Dancing was enjoyed, with music by Art Bertacchi and Bob Lambert.

Spinal health care week

The week of May 1-7 has been proclaimed "Illinois Chiropactic Spinal Health Care Week." The purpose is to increase public awareness of the role played by correct posture and proper spinal health care in the preservation and maintenance of overall good health.

The Prairie State Chiropactic Association is joining with the International Chiropactic Association during this week in asking that parents make a few simple checks of their children's spine and posture.

"A positive indication on any of these tests would show that a problem may exist, and that a professional examination of the child's spine should be made," a spokesman said.

"The first test is to have the child stand straight and then compare the shoulders. Both should be level. If one is higher than the other, there exists a potential spinal difficulty.

"The same principle applies in the second test. Check your daughter's neckline or your son's beltline. If one side is higher, a spinal problem may exist.

"In the third check, have the child bend forward from the waist, arms hanging loosely down, and legs straight. If the muscles appear to bunch on one side of the spine, scoliosis (curvature of the spine) is a distinct possibility.

"Children wear out shoes rapidly, so any parent can attest to the fourth check is to examine the child's shoes. If one shoe is wearing out faster than the other, especially on the outside edge of the heel, this is a warning sign of possible spinal problems.

"Many of today's health problems originated from postural misalignment that started as a result of childhood falls, bumps or minor accidents that went undetected at the time.

"As with the old saying, 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure,' so could many children be saved untold suffering by early detection and correction of spinal health problems."

2 to 10 year sentencing case

Charles Rea, 37, Granite City, has been sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court to serve two to 10 years in prison after a jury found him guilty of attempted murder in the shooting of his estranged wife, Victoria Rea of Collinsville more than four years ago.

Mrs. Rea was found in her car Dec. 26, 1974, near Route 111 and Sand Prairie Lane with two bullet wounds to her back and one in her mouth.

She spoke briefly with investigators at the scene and her husband was arrested a short time later at his home.

Circuit Judge Horace Calvo pronounced the sentence in Edwardsville.

The Lighter Side

By Cathey Jamison
Press-Record Feature Editor

Who takes care of the caretaker when the caretaker has a cold?

I have a cold. My entire life has become completely miserable due to sniffles, coughing and a general feeling of yuck.

The common cold is a most uncommon thing, at least for me. I spent the winter free from the ravages of the illness. Spring, the time when a young man's fancy turns to love, has turned me into a trifling mass of symptoms.

I have become a cold remedy junkie. I have tried most of all the non-prescription preparations guaranteed to cure the coughing, the sneezing and the constantly running nose. I find that I can function if I have ingested a sufficient amount of chemicals. But I operate on about the level of your average second grader while under their influence. I go to work, but by the time I get there, I am ready to go home. But the common cold is no excuse not to go to work, not if one is to be considered a good employee.

It cannot even be considered a good excuse not to do the dishes or fix dinner, if one is to be a good mother. All other members of the family can be sick at their leisure, but not old Mom.

Mothers have the peculiar obligation to operate normally even under abnormal conditions. I never really thought that quite fair, but it is true nonetheless.

Husbands and children are able to fall completely apart while under the influence of germs. Mothers cannot fall apart, ever.

There simply is no one in the house who can mother Mom, no one to tell her to take her medicine and put the vaporizer next to her bed. Mothers must do these things for themselves.

Mom must make her own chicken soup and provide herself with gallons of orange juice and piles of Kleenex.

She must continue to keep the washing caught up and get the young ones off to school. She must walk the dog and tend to the business of running the house in general.

If she is lucky, she will have only one cold a year, and that one when it is warm. Then at least she can send the kids outside to play while she collapses on the couch.

I guess I can consider myself lucky. It is warm and the boys can play outside. I intend to keep my chin up and my Kleenex handy.

But hear me, family mine, the next time I come down with a cold, I fully intend to run away from home.

BPW observes 60th year

The St. Louis Metropolitan Bar Association on the 36th floor of the Mercantile Towers, St. Louis, was the setting for the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club to celebrate the 60th anniversary of the founding of the BPW organization.

The Business and Professional Women's group was established in St. Louis in July 1919 and among many guests attending the dinner in honor of the occasion were:

Lucille Ann Schott, Vernon Hills, Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women president; Wilma Harpole of Mount Vernon, state BPW president elect; Colleen Forrys, Rockford, state first vice-president; Ev Smith, Rosemarie Stallings and Ann Hundsdorfer, all from Fairview Heights; Judy Wiemann and Dorothy Fin, Edwardsville; Catherine Burton and Marcella Easley, Collinsville; Rosemary Hardwick, Mary Kay Pohlman, Bessie Schnelton, Cecilia Reisch and Peg Schmelt, Carrollton.

Sister Mary Frances from St. Elizabeth Medical Center, a special guest, was presented a certificate in honor of the hospital's 75th anniversary year.

Elvira Thurber made the presentation and reviewed part of the institution's background, relating that in 1941 the Sisters of Divine Providence asked the Granite City BPW Club to help them organize a hospital auxiliary program. It was through the efforts of the auxiliary members that the hospital coffee shop was established. It today continues to operate with the assistance of women volunteers.

Club President Lois Wetton, aided by Annellen Smith of Granite City, state BPW membership chair-

CERTIFICATE. Sister Mary Frances of St. Elizabeth Medical Center displays an award certificate honoring the hospital on its 75th anniversary year, presented at the BPW dinner.

Miss Schott spoke briefly, emphasizing the qualities of wisdom, principle and leadership that are stressed in being a BPW member.

Ruth Walk, membership chairman, introduced three prospective members who were inducted into the organization.

The newcomers are Linda Kwas, Chris Gernigin and Sharon Ritchie. Also introduced was Emylee Alford, recipient of the first annual "Volunteer Woman of the Year" award, whose nomination was sponsored by Delray Rebeckah Lodge.

Ann Graklanoff served as chairman of the April dinner meeting.

Another tie in vote by sanitary board

Another 3 to 3 tie, decided along county lines, deadlocked the Metro-East Sanitary District Board of Trustees during a meeting Thursday in Washington Park.

St. Clair County trustees voted to begin repairs of breaks in the Cahokia sewer trunk line and Madison County trustees voted not to award a contract for the work at this time, because of a Third Judicial Circuit Court order freezing all spending and tax collection by the sanitary district. Board President Russell Robinson of Granite City said he voted against starting the work because union men who would be assigned to the job get paid each Friday for their work and the court order would prohibit the district from meeting its obligation.

A $2.5 million grant has been approved by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency for 75 percent of the cost of the work and the levee district will be allowed to use its own labor for credit on the other 25 percent. Levee District Attorney John Sprague of St. Clair County was present and was asked by Robinson what the $3 vote means and Sprague said it will be up to the Illinois Supreme Court to determine which trustees are legal voting members of the board.

All votes of the board since January of 1978 will be subject to review when the supreme court issues its opinion, Sprague said.

Walter "Shang" Greathouse, trustee from Granite City, told the board, "I speak not only for myself, but for all the taxpayers of Madison County, in saying we will not give up on this thing."

"The makeup of the present board makes it impossible to operate. The way the statute setting up the board reads—written by State Rep. Monroe Flynn of St. Clair County—it is clear that the county with the highest assessed valuation should have the third board member. This decision should have come at least six months ago," Greathouse said.

Child abuse prevention—May theme

In conjunction with Illinois observance of the International Year of the Child and a statewide conference next month on child abuse and neglect, Gov. James Thompson has declared May to be Child Abuse Prevention Month in Illinois.

Thompson said, "Children are our most important natural resource," and asked all citizens to "pledge their guidance and support to all the children in whose hands our future lies."

Among the subjects to be examined at a child abuse prevention conference May 2-4 are teenage parenthood, middle and upper class child neglect, incestuous families and compulsory parent education, the governor said.

Nurse aide training plan by legislature

LI Gov. Dave O'Neal has voiced his support of legislation co-sponsored by Rep. Phillip Bianco, R-Chicago, and Rep. Josephine Obinger, R-Springfield, which would create a nurse aide training program in Illinois.

Under the bill, newly-employed nurse aides would be required to complete an approved training program not more than six months from date of employment.

O'Neal and the bill's sponsors feel the legislation would bring professional recognition to nurse aids, thus increasing job satisfaction and reducing the high turnover rate that currently exists in the occupation. O'Neal predicted the Nurse Aide Training Act would significantly increase the quality of health care.

Tourists find strict controls in Russia

By ALFRED KRUMSIEK

At the meeting of Travelers Abroad last week, and Mrs. Mary Ann Huber, gave a carefully prepared lecture on Russia, based chiefly on their ten-day visit to Leningrad, St. Petersburg and Moscow in November 1978.

The Soviet Union, said Huber, is the largest country in the world, embracing one-seventh of the earth's land area, all in one contiguous block.

It is three times as large as the 48 states in the continental United States. Of the 260,000,000 inhabitants, only 15 million are registered members of the Communist Party.

Numerous pictures were shown of the many churches in Leningrad days when the money, all are marvels of architecture with lavish furnishings.

Commenting on these, Huber said that although the Communist Party is strictly atheistic and has always wished to destroy the church, there are today several million people who attend church services regularly and are not molested.

The first blow which the Communist Party struck at the church, and probably the first, was to deny them any tax support. Then there followed years of general harassment until the 1940s, when Hitler invaded the Soviet Union, spreading death and devastation everywhere.

The Russian church and all its faithful members supported the government in its defense against the invaders. Many devout churchgoers fought, bled and died in the war with Hitler almost won.

Since those terrible days, persecutions of the church have ceased. The magnificent church buildings still stand, but most of them are not places of worship, but are public offices and, in one case, a factory.

No Russian is allowed to change his residence, even within the same city, without official permission. If he is related, this marks no departure from the Soviet system, when it was said that the Russian national government knew where every man slept every night.

One difference, however, is that today all housing is government-owned, there being no privately owned houses whatever.

Medical care and hospitalization are completely free and available for everyone. The Russian government lays great emphasis on preventive medicine, especially for children, and parents are required to take their children to the public clinic for physical examination at least once every six months.

Unlike the United States, Russia has a very low crime rate, no drug problem, and no unemployment. On very rare occasions, when the government recognizes its drunkenness, mostly among the men.

In Russia, men and women doing the same work receive equal wages. A divorced man must pay his ex-wife 25 percent of his salary.

An unmarried man must pay a "child tax." An unmarried woman is exempt from this tax, but if she marries and after some years has no children, she must pay.

This "child tax" law is not designed to increase Russia's population but is consistent with the Communist maxim, "From each according to his ability, to each according to his needs."

Have class distinctions all been abolished? Theoretically, yes. Actually, the enormous bureaucracy has privileges when it comes to housing and many other things, the audience was told.

It is not possible for any American to purchase a trip to Russia from any travel agency in United States, said Mrs. Huber.

Those who wish to visit the Soviet Union must contact the Russian Intourist Organization and pay for everything in advance, including lodging, food and drink. The American tourist in Russia has no free choice of anything.

His stay in Russia is planned by the Russian government to the minutest detail. He cannot, for example, tell his friends on departure, "I shall be staying in Hotel So-and-so."

you may write me there."

Friends in America, who want to write, address communications to Huber Intourist Agency, which will know exactly where the American is every day.

The Hubers found the food and lodging plain but adequate, and the service very good, although the room temperature in November was always slightly below 60 degrees.

One article served at every meal was cucumbers. The ice cream was excellent, but Americans are puzzled to see Russians eating ice cream when trudging through snow in the bitter cold.

Of special interest was the stern warning which the tourists received in the United States of the dangers of drinking the water provided by the Leningrad waterworks.

They were strictly forbidden to even use it in brushing teeth. It seems that the natives of Leningrad have developed an immunity against the bacteria and suffer no harm from drinking the city water.

Hence, American tourists drank only bottled water, or bottled soft drinks, or alcoholic liquor. Brushing your teeth in vodka is a most unusual sensation, Mrs. Huber averred.

Another oddity was that Intourist asked all Americans to take along a lot of cancelled postage stamps, several ballpoint pens, chewing gum, and hard candies, such as life savers.

In Russia, it was less than the guides, waitresses and maids expected to receive these little articles as tips. They are forbidden to accept any cash tips.

One hardship which the government could not tolerate was the Russian housewife must spend about two hours a day in buying food. There is no shopping in the long, cold winter. So it is not practical, even when possible, to buy several days' supply of groceries.

Nowhere in the world, one sees the American businessman's desire to give his customers satisfaction, because there is no competition.

A visit to the Kremlin is still an example of the Soviet system, which surrounded the upper classes in Czarist days. For example, the Czar's winter palace with 800 rooms.

On the other hand, the Moscow subway through its entire length is like one long, open hall, and is clean, well-lit and beautiful, with oil paintings and gorgeous murals.

When Americans saw many reminders of the coming Olympic Games in 1980, for which Russia is the host country, it was noted.

Secretaries tour bank

Eleven senior members of the Madison High School Future Secretaries Association spent a day in the offices of the First National Bank in St. Louis, experiencing their first real taste of office life.

This visit, arranged by FSA Committee Chairman Charlie Vunovic, who is secretary to Edwin S. Jones, chairman of the bank's executive committee, marked the fifth year that the Madison FSA has participated in this program.

Members and the offices of cancelled postage stamps, as follows: Tammy Lynn, personnel; Pam Barefield, computer; Annette Walker, cash services; Martha Foresee, international; Debbie Sutt, computer services; Phyllis Dandridge, as tips. They are forbidden to accept any cash tips.

What you should know about air conditioning

Some manufacturers of heating and cooling equipment have begun to use aluminum tubing in their heat pump and central air conditioning coils. Now aluminum is great for some things, like beverage cans, lawn chairs, etc. But coil tubing isn't one of them.

Lennox uses only dependable, proven copper tubing. Copper costs a little more, but the advantages are well worth it. Copper is easier to work with, less brittle, more flexible, easier to make tight joints with.

Lennox enjoys a high quality reputation unsurpassed in the heating and air conditioning industry. We didn't get it by skimping on materials.

It's just one more reason to see your independent Lennox dealer for all your heating and air conditioning needs. Call:
